

DENTISTRY ON PARKSIDE NEWS BITES

Welcome to our Dentistry on Parkside April 2018 newsletter

Age is not a barrier to looking after your Oral Health

Elva has been seeing Michael Holdaway since he first came to Ashburton 28 years ago, Elva is 92.

Elva finds Dentistry on Parkside to have a "totally satisfying pleasant atmosphere."

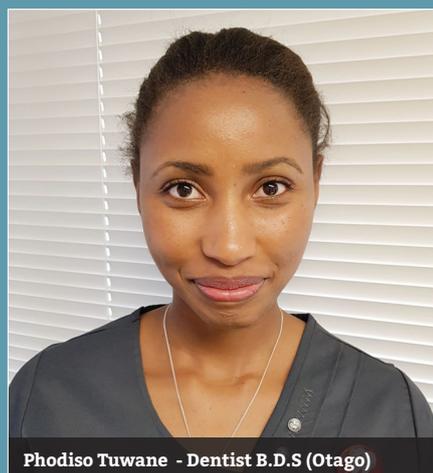

She is constantly amazed by the progress of dentistry over her time here. "It's pain free."

Elva is also impressed by the innovation and how Dentistry on Parkside is always keeping abreast with modern developments in dentistry.

Elva has preserved her smile with regular Dental Check-ups and visits to our Oral Health Therapists.

Phodiso Tuwane - Dentist B.D.S (Otago)

Settled into Ashburton and Dentistry on Parkside

Phodiso joined our team in March and has quickly settled into Ashburton and Dentistry on Parkside.

Originally from a small rural town in Botswana, Phodiso chose to study at Otago Dental School completing her Dentistry Degree 3 years ago. After completing her studies she found that she enjoyed New Zealand.

Offering all aspects of General

Dentistry, Phodiso has a pleasant manner and is looking forward to seeing our regular patients as well as taking on new patients.

"Everyone has been so welcoming and friendly."

"I am looking forward to exploring our beautiful backyard."

"I love how everything is so close together."
